Associate Editors

From the first Union High Annual in 1924, then called THE HIGH LIFE, to the present edition of THE GLEAM, staffs have worked long to produce annually a book which would record a true picture of school days.

In our production this year we have tried to depict the school life of the 1953 Senior Class. We hope we have succeeded. We have had a great deal of aid and encouragement from the faculty, which we truly appreciate. As you turn these pages, we hope you will see the seriousness, the excitement, and the purpose of our school days.

"A" TEAM GAMES

UNION-WOODRUFF—The Yellow Jackets got off to a roaring start by stinging Woodruff in the opener 27-0.

UNION-LAURENS—In the second game of the season Union High downed Laurens 13-7 in a real thriller.

UNION 7-SPARTANBURG 27—The mighty Crimson Tide rolled over the Jackets in the last half, thereby giving them the only defeat of the season.

UNION 26-NEWBERRY 0—Union returned to the victory trail by an easy win over Newberry. The Gold and Black had complete control all the way.

UNION-GREENWOOD—In a rough-and-tumble game at Greenwood, Union soundly trounced the highly rated GHS 13-7.

UNION-GAFFNEY—A large, excited crowd watched the Jackets battle Gaffney to a 14-14 tie in one of the hardest-fought games of the season. Union scored the final seven points in the last few minutes of play.

UNION 14-CHESTER 7—Union played host to the Chester Cyclone and sent them home beaten at the hands of the Jackets for the first time in twelve years.

UNION-LANCASTER—The Union squad oozed by a "stronger than expected" Lancaster to win a really tough one 7-0.

UNION-GREER—In their Homecoming the Jackets edged out a strong Greer eleven 13-7.

UNION-WINNSBOBO—After a scoreless first half the Gold and Black came back strong to win the final 21-7 and thus add to the books one of the best records the school has seen.

"The Curtain Falls"

CURTAIN CALL

Mr. Jack Barry

The Senior Class of 1953 has joy in dedicating this volume to one of Union High's most beloved faculty members, MR. JACK BARRY, Director of Music.

Your humor and your unfailing willingness to help . . . the fact that you speak a language which students understand . . . your mastery of the art of relieving a tense situation . . . for this and more, MR. BARRY, we are appreciative and grateful.

Class POEM

AS WE leave this childish era
And advance to higher places
We are led toward greater height
By a torch light in our faces.

Many times we've heard the cry,
"Follow yonder steadfast light;
It will bless you during day;
It will brighten darkest night."

We have come to life's first crossroads;
We know not which way to turn;
Faith and Courage, light the way now;
In our hearts forever burn!

We have finished one long journey—
Happy schooldays now are fled;
Yesterdays have passed like breezes,
Our tomorrows loom ahead.

Oh, those bygone days were full ones,
Full of all manner of things,
But they're gone, gone now forever,
Fled on great and silver wings.

Our tomorrows will be filled, too;
We must strive as well as dream;
But we'll ever keep before us
Our motto, "Follow the Gleam."

—JOAN EDWARDS.

Class HISTORY

IT WAS in September, 1947, that we, a large group of shy but ambitious youngsters, entered Union High to begin what has proved to be the most glorious part of our entire school career. All sections of our county were represented as students came from the towns, from textile areas, and from farms.

And it came to pass, as we did enter this place, we were received with wild welcomings and rejoicings by many who had preceded us and who were now leading the way up the slippery by-ways of knowledge. We were also received with malicious glee by a certain band of wild beings called upper-classmen who, because of their fierce dislike for Sub-Freshmen, did pounce upon us daily and nightly. We took this treatment as our part, and it was not until the next year that we began to be recognized as a part of high school.

Before we realized it, our first year was over. As we roamed the campus of our school we fell in with the customs of the inhabitants thereof, and their strangeness wore away, and we each became as one among the rest. We had the distinct honor of being one of the first classes to have access to the then new gymnasium and cafeteria.

By this time another nine months had passed and we entered the ninth grade, realizing that this was really and truly our first year of high school life. It is also easy to understand that we were more than glad to give up our unenviable position as the "babies" of Union High. We also rejoiced because we were allowed to choose our own subjects. Some selected the easier courses, but many of the brighter and more ambitious students plunged into the complexities of Latin and Science. Nevertheless, we had a most interesting and enjoyable freshman year.

Upon entering the tenth grade we had reached second base. By now we could participate even more in the upper-grade activities. We were beginning to get a taste of what high school really was like. We entered wholeheartedly into all activities, such as voting, helping in campaigns, and becoming members of the Student Council. In the tenth grade we got into the groove and started feeling our importance.

Only those of you who recall the time when you, too, were juniors can imagine the happiness we experienced upon finding ourselves in that important position. Our Junior Class was a class unique. It was distinctive. We had many highlights, but the one of greatest importance was our junior play, "EVERY FAMILY HAS ONE." Although only a few members of the junior class could actively participate in the play, the cooperation of the rest of the juniors was a contributing factor to the success of it. Yes, I think I can truly say that our junior year was one unsurpassed by any preceding class.

Now we come to this, our senior year. We have now reached our goal and the path that we have traveled was not an easy one. It required much studying, much work, and many great responsibilities. We are also the first class to graduate under the new county-unit system. As the years go by we'll cherish each fond memory of our days at Union High. To those who have worked with us and encouraged us to strive for higher goals we, the Senior Class of 1953, express our appreciation. In coming years our aim will be to set forth the high ideals that you have faithfully set before us. We shall ever strive to "follow the gleam."

—WALLACE CULP.

Class GRUMBLINGS

EVERYONE says that I'm a big grumbler, so I'll take the opportunity to tell you what I think of this so-called high school.

First of all I'd like to warn you that I have my dueling pistols with me; so if anybody doesn't like what I say, just take your choice of the weapons.

I know that all of you have wondered why our teachers are forever hollering that we have no school spirit. If we try to have a little spirited fun in school they throw us out on our heads.

I've just about come to the conclusion that to pass you either have to be a genius with a brain the size of a washpot or just a plain dumb moron. If you have all the virtues and make the National Honor Society, you'll get there all right; if you don't listen, don't try in class, and make F's on all tests, the teachers will pass you just to get rid of you. We middle men don't have a chance!

In some schools there is a day when the whole student body is dismissed to watch a football game in which the senior boys play the junior boys; but what do we do? We go right on to classes. Our school is plenty big enough to have a holiday game at least once every six weeks. And another thing . . .

The teachers will tell us to read the next few pages in our books, and then the following day ask us all kinds of questions on the lesson so that they can find out what it is all about, I suppose. This must be so; because if they knew already, they wouldn't have to ask us so many hard-to-answer questions.

They're not fair to school-bus drivers, either. They make the pupils sit at attention and be so good all day that when school is out in the afternoon there is a mad rush for the buses and so much unlaxing on them that the buses and drivers both are practically disjointed on the trip home.

We all know how cold it was back in the winter. Boy, it was so cold that if you said anything you had to pick up your words and put them on the radiator to thaw 'em out. Well, on one of these certain days a few of us were standing in the front of the new building defrosting and a certain teacher came along and told us to get out . . . that Mr. Jeter had said that everyone should be out in the fresh air. We were turned out in the teeth-chattering cold while she joined other teachers at a hen party in the typing room. Guess they think that they don't need a breath of fresh air; but if I blew off as much hot air as some of them do . . .

It's a funny thing to me why they use the word free in reference to public schools and especially this school system. We go to school twelve years and rack our brains over all sorts of things like Algebra, French Spanish, and all the rest of 'em; then what?? Graduation time comes and we have to buy the diploma!

After my twelve years of it I have reached this conclusion. No matter how you look at school and classes, they are like a T-Model Ford: a lots of nuts in the rear and an old rusty crank up front.

—ROY GRADY.

LAST WILL and TESTAMENT

WE, the Senior Class of '53, in a state of sound (?) mind do hereby will the following to our former (we hope) cellmates:

MARY KATE FOWLER leaves some of her curly locks to Ann Smith.

GLENDA LEONHARDT leaves her smile to any one who can get it.

ABIE PHILLIPS leaves his Casanova habits to Frank Cody.

JACKIE ROLLINS leaves her position on the basketball team to Barbara Whitmire.

JOHN JERRY SMITH leaves his quiet manner and the good name of Smith to Jimmie Ray Smith.

JO ANN STOUDEMIRE leaves her "purty" voice to Katie Sue Thompson.

RUBY VANDERFORD leaves, well, she's just leaving.

THELIA AUSTIN leaves some of her book learning to Bobby Crisp.

MATREL BOBO leaves her diamond to Mary Ruth Harris.

CRYSTAL CLAYTON leaves her love for North Carolina boys to Emma Lee Ramsey.

SUE HAPPERFIELD leaves her part of McLellans' to Sue Quinn.

EARL HYDER leaves his diet to Jimmy Jolly.

C. B. JOLLY leaves his ability to get under pop fous to J. R. Putman.

BRUCE KINGSMORE leaves his curls to Eddie Robinson.

EVERETTE SMITH leaves his cute(?) ways to anybody who thinks he can imitate them.

BECKY THOMPSON leaves her seat in the infirmary to Tomi Owens.

MARY VAUGHAN leaves her bottle of peroxide to Clydie Mae Callie.

COLEMAN CULBREATH leaves her height to Mary Louise Jeter.

WAYNE HARMON leaves what? "I don't have a thing to leave," says he; "if I did, I'd take it with me, 'cause I paid for it."

JANE HICKS leaves her disposition to Joanna Sloan.

FRANKIE KNOX leaves her yearning (?) for book learning to anyone who wants it.

MABLE MASSEY leaves her sense of humor to Zora Wright.

FRANK MILLWOOD leaves his ability to sleep in classes to anyone who can get away with it.

DICKIE SEAY leaves his hairbrush to Gilbert Kirby.

TED SMITH leaves his friendly ways to Bruce Queen.

ANN WAGNON leaves her job as prophet to someone who is smarter than he thinks.

DEAN WALKER leaves his place in Mr. Jeter's office to Carl Harris.

MARION WILLIAMS leaves his ability to be sick on Monday and Friday to August Holcombe.

JAMES PRINCE leaves his love for Chevies to T. J. Chapman.

VIRGINIA BROWN leaves her quiet and settled ways to Mary Long Ray.

JOE FARR leaves his love for Fords to Carl Watkins.

ROSANELL ALEXANDER leaves the rail in front of the new building to Martha Campbell.

BETTY JO BROOKS leaves her studious ways to Ruth Anne Gettys.

SYBIL CATHCART leaves her ability to hold one boy to anyone who can do it.

SHIRLEY CUDD is not leaving Carroll Austin to anybody.

BETTY JEAN JONES is leaving her slimness to Mary Emma Griffith.

BILLY EVANS leaves his ability to milk twelve cows every morning to John Bailes.

DEAN JENKINS positively refuses to leave Sally to anybody.

JEAN VAUGHAN leaves her big mouth to Nancy Gregory.

NANCY STROTHER leaves her indolence to Beverly Timmons.

And I, CAROLE THREATTE, leave my greatest sympathy to the poor sucker who has to write this thing next year.

Class PROPHECY

DEAR CLASSMATES OF '53:

The other day I was looking at our GLEAM, which during the past years has collected quite a bit of dust, and thinking about the different ways we, who used to be one big class, have gone. Since that day so long ago when Mr. Jeter finally gave us our diplomas, the paths have led in many directions. Some of them were quite surprising, some were quite natural, and some just were.

Joyce Arthur is now quite a famous opera star, recently starring in The Loves of Carmen. Joyce isn't the only one in the field of entertainment, though. Shirley Gregory and Wayne Harmon have now replaced Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca on T. V. with Ann Treadway writing their script. Barbara Wilburn and Leroy Estes are stars in their own right in a revival of silent movies. Phoebe Gowan, after touring the United States with the Community Concerts as a Concert Pianist, is now serving as a trustee at Furman. Luke Wilburn, who is the leader of the number one band of the land, is now making plans to open a night club on the moon. Danny Lawson, who is hailed as Harry James the second, is still looking for his Betty Grable. Maxine Vaughn after her role in the Junior Play is starring on Broadway as "The Fabulous Red-Head." And have you heard the new recording that Helen Dill's Recording Studio has put out by the Willard Sisters? But you haven't lived if you've failed to hear Ann Bowen, who is head vocalist at the Stork Club with her theme song, It's In The Book.

Also I found out U. H. S. is well represented in other fields. Coleman Culbreath is now coaching a team of Girl Globe Trotters. Jane Hicks is one of the most popular models in New York, now; and she always models Sandra Timmons Originals, which are sold in New York, Paris, and Gaffney. Doris Gwinn has also turned to designing—shoes—and they are sold at the new modernistic Dixie Shoe Shop. Doris O'Shields and Sara Cody are head of a training school for cheerleaders, while Joe Haney, who is pitching for the New York Yankees, is in spring training, and the team is lodging at the Cross Anchor Hotel of which Jean Vaughan is proprietress. Pat Baber, choosing her father's profession, is now Lady Chief of Police, and Dean Jenkins is a highway patrolman.

Also from our class we have several famous authors and lecturers. Faye Murphy and Carol McDade are touring Russia and China giving lectures on How to Grow Red Hair. Bobby Foster, since he loved twelfth literature so much has now edited another book on the Literature of England. Jimmy Parks is selling autographed copies of his new book, The Sure Cure for Laziness and Raymond Satterfield has retired after reaping his fortune from his book entitled, How to Sleep in Class. Jo Beth Taylor has recently finished a simplified reversion of Algebra, Book II to be used in South Carolina high schools. Jeanelle Scott's new etiquette book, which replaced Emily Post's, states that it is permissible, though not advisable, to chew gum in class. Nearly all of these books are published by the Godshall Publishing House, owned by Ann Godshall. This company sometimes publishes annuals, also. Joan Edwards is now editor of Children's True Confessions.

Morris Young is the owner of a large tobacco plantation and sells all his crops to the makers of Lucky Strike for whom Hobson Jeter is an auctioneer.

Serving in governmental posts are Wallace Culp, who is a speaker for the House of Representatives and in his spare time judges Democracy contests; and Virginia Fant is chief librarian in the Library of Congress. Also serving his country is Mack Hughes who is Secretary of the Treasury.

In the field of industry U. H. S. has gone far. Louis Jordan, who served for a while as a Shrine Bowl coach, is now salesman for the new Farmall Tractors. Nancy Strother who, because she is no longer busy picking chickens after developing a featherless breed, demonstrates the tractors for him. Charles Hoyle and Company sells special jiffy-quick field marking sets. Clarence Hamm is the wholesale distributor of 'Hamm's ham—the best that am'. Larry Lowe owns a chain of drug stores and also manufactures Lowe's shaving cream—no razor needed. Noel Belue, who manufactures eraser dusters, and Donald Southard, who has been giving demonstrations of his wonderful new 50¢ can of elbow grease, have merged their companies and are doing a booming business. Joe Thomas Stepp now sells modernistic furniture and is designing some to be used on the moon. Speaking of the moon, Loretta Wood is an airline hostess on her millionaire husband's moon rocket.

Nancy Chastain works in France tracing family trees. Peggy James went to France, too, to serve as an interpreter, but gave it up to join the chorus at the Casbah.

Leonard Stevens has replaced Norman Rockwell on the staff of Post Magazine and is now drawing their covers. Edward Rector designs casts, all shapes, sizes, colors. Carole Threatte after writing the class will has become a lawyer and is serving in the Supreme Court. Charlie Jamieson leads a varied life. Part of the year he works in his Main Street establishment—C. Jamieson's—the store for the well-dressed man, and in the other part of the year he is a carnival barker. Here also, we find Betty Rose Billings, who does a sister act when she isn't selling candy apples. Bill Sibley, after completing his work at Georgia Tech, has constructed a bridge across Sugar Creek so Roy Grady's congregation can get to church every Sunday.

As Shakespeare said, "all the world's a stage and every man and woman are but players."; he also said, "Our revels now are ended. These, our actors, as I foretold you, were all spirits and are melted into air, into thin air." And so we probably will; but, as you have seen from this letter, not without first breaking the current of that air.

Sincerely,
ANN W. WAGNON.
